

EnglishOnline.Net

real teachers, real skills.

<http://www.EnglishOnline.Net>
<http://b2b.EnglishOnline.Net>
info@englishonline.net

EnglishOnline.Net

The dot-com boom may have come and gone, but the field of online education is growing rapidly. Since 1998, EnglishOnline.Net has become one of the most popular sites on the web for English studies, thanks in large part to our suite of online courses in academic, business, and technical writing. These intensive courses combine personal instruction and feedback with quality, web-based activities. Each course also features a forum where students can meet and learn from each other. Most importantly, students who take courses at EnglishOnline.Net are not handed over to “facilitators” or student teachers. They learn directly from the instructors who designed the courses. These instructors all have advanced degrees in the field as well as years of teaching experience at the university, high school, private, and corporate levels.

If you're an educator or administrator, or are responsible for the training needs of your company, you know all too well that the cost of implementing online courses is high, changes in technology are unpredictable, and there is no guarantee that your efforts and expense will produce results. EnglishOnline.Net can take away the worry and expense by providing you with ready-to-go, high-quality, flexible online communications courses — and the teachers to go with them!

Why not contact us today?

EnglishOnline is a great help to me. It gives me enthusiasm to learn more about English by using modern techniques and approaches to learning.

—Quezon City,
Philippines

Your site is useful and makes English easy to absorb. It really helps those who have difficulty with complicated English grammar.

—Karen, USA

This is an excellent web site that has given me a lot of help learning English.

—B. Miao, China

<http://www.EnglishOnline.Net>

Your courses are very useful to me. I work at home, and I have no time to take a course at an institute. Thank you!

—G. Grassi, Argentina

As an immigrant whose mother tongue is not English and who knows the education field very well (I was a French teacher in my own country), I believe this site is very well organized and that the team working on this site is very meticulous and concerned about the needs of a person who wants to learn a new language. I like this site and thank you and I hope you keep going!

—Farnaz, Canada

Courses

Essay Writing – Introduces the basics of effective writing in English. Lessons cover basic structure of English paragraphs and compositions, major types of compositions, usage, and grammar.

Business Communications –

Introduces techniques for writing effective business letters, memos, and brief, informal reports. Lessons include the development of common formats as well as the practice of appropriate tone, etiquette, and style as dictated by the particular goals of the various documents. Interrelated usage and grammar exercises are included.

Technical Communications – Covers the process of creating, designing, and transmitting technical information so that people can understand it easily and use it effectively. This course builds on the established basics for effective business communications and includes processes, descriptions of mechanisms, proposals, and reports.

Schedule – These are one-month intensive courses, but students can study and submit assignments at their own pace.

Fees – Visit us for complete course descriptions and fee schedules. Group rates, package rates, corporate rates, and special arrangements for schools and institutions are available.

Contact: Daniel Tessitore
<http://EnglishOnline.Net>
<http://B2B.EnglishOnline.Net>
info@englishonline.net

EnglishOnline.Net

real teachers, real skills.

287 Wimbledon Rd.
Rochester, NY 14617
(716) 342-7987

550 N.E. 43rd St. #203
Boca Raton, FL 33431
(561) 417-5728

<http://www.EnglishOnline.Net>
<http://b2b.EnglishOnline.Net>
info@englishonline.net

<http://www.EnglishOnline.Net>
<http://b2b.EnglishOnline.Net>
info@englishonline.net